

Locally developed new technologies which have resulted in a successfully marketed products/services

Microimage localized messaging & content browsing applications

Microimage localized messaging and content browsing platform is the world's first successful suit of applications to provide local language support for entry-level applications on mobile devices in emerging markets. This patented solution empowers millions of native language communities to effectively communicate and browse plethora of localized content.

Microimage (Pvt) Ltd